The lighter side

DOONESBURY
by G.B. Trudeau

LARRY, I'M LOOKING FOR A NEW-PICTURE DEAL. HERE, OKAY?

WE HAVEN'T HAD A NEW-PICTURE DEAL. HERE, OKAY?

I'D LIKE TO KNOW, LARRY. I'M HAVING A LOT OF PRESSURE FROM THE HOMES— AND I'D LIKE TO KNOW IF THE HOMES WILL BE HAPPY TO HAVE A NEW-PICTURE DEAL, OKAY?

Tobacco Control 2003; 12:102–103

The networks need a lead story to scare everyone. Whose turn is it to pick a noun?

©2002 Wiley Miller. Distributed by UNIVERSAL PRESS SYNDICATE.
Austria’s “Milde Sorte” brand telegraphing its punches for the proposed EEU-wide ban on using words like “mild” and “light” in branding. In the blink of a regulatory eye, the brand name to morph into “Meine Sorte” (my sort)? Contributed by Ernest Groman, Vienna.